Will be interesting to see how many of these eventually turn up. Do either of you know if the regs/gov staff can determine (without a lot of work) who submitted these comments - i.e. what email address they were submitted from?

I did not submit any comments. My email address is being hacked by someone who wants to manipulate his stance by using gathered addresses which he does not have permission. Please disregard any contact from my email address in the future. Do an examination as to what device he was able to hack and send from.

Thank you.

Please let us know what you think of these requests so that we can respond to the submitters.

Thanks!
