Thank you very much.

If you count them separately (which makes sense) that would be 18 diminishments plus one change in management. We're still checking those numbers, though, along with the Congressional ones.

Sorry this is taking longer than expected (the Congress part is proving to be the harder one). Hoping to have something soon.

We're pretty confident the number of times the President has reduced is 16 (we found 3 more).

I just talked with Randy. I think we should be able to get you a summary by tomorrow. (To give you an idea, we believe a President has diminished or modified management of a monument 14 times, but will confirm. Not sure of the number for Congress (many more), but we think we have the raw data to count it up with.).
