I am opposed to the 2.6 million acres of the public's federal forest under the Western Oregon Plan Revisions slated for clearcutting. Administered by the BLM, the plan includes construction of 1000 miles of logging roads every decade.

1E03

The Bush administration may owe the timber industry for their monetary support, but the public does not owe this industry anything & this IS public land — not just the politicians!

RECEIVED
JAN 04 2008

I want thinning of our NW forests — not logging — let alone destructive clearcutting. This could provide jobs, stimulate local economies, & benefit the forests. Do not cheat the public out of its forestlands.

Monica Gilman