Dear State Director of Geospatial Services F. David Radford,

Dear Bureau of Land Management,

No offense, but you guys are crazy if you want to put this mineral mine around the Boundary Waters. I mean think of the repercussion that would ensue if the mine was created. After it's creation only more people would become frustrated and public outcry would only grow after (which is not a good look in this day and age). The idea of destroying wildlife for economic gain in 2021 is ridiculous knowing how the public will react to the mines creation. I implore you to reconsider and instead of focusing on the collection of materials from this mine, focus on the moral and social impacts of this decision, America needs to see the good side win.

Sincerely,
Honor Scorzelli
