To Whom It May Concern

Re: Bay Yearling Stud Colt

On October 27th I examined the above horse and found him to have a severe Left Front varus angular limb deformity at the fetlock with concurrent collapse deformity of the lateral hoof wall. The condition was likely present at birth as a congenital deformity. He was euthanized due to the poor long term prognosis for pain free soundness without consistent hoof management and likely development of arthritis in the fetlock regardless of management.
