Paul de Benedictis <pauldeb@sbcglobal.net>

11/23/2005 11:50 AM

To vegeis@nv.blm.gov

cc

Subject Planned herbicide spraying on public lands to control undergrowth in forests and invasive weeds

Gentlemen and women:

It seems to me that we have all progressed in our research to the point that we realize that the long-term damage to ecosystems by such an application of poisons is an unintelligent and dangerous idea. I urge you to consider other alternatives to the problems that you have identified. 1

Think! Think!

You can do better.

Paul and Gene de Benedictis
155 Avenida Barbera
Sonoma, CA 95476