North Bend, Ore. – The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Coos Bay District Resource Advisory Committee (RAC) will meet on Friday, March 7, 2014, to review proposals and recommend projects for funding under Title II of the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act. Approximately $395,000 is available to implement natural resource restoration and maintenance projects that benefit federal lands in Coos, Curry, and Douglas Counties.

The meeting will take place at the BLM office in North Bend, OR from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The public is welcome to attend all portions of the meeting and address the RAC during the public comment period at approximately 11:00 a.m.

The Coos Bay RAC is one of five committees established in western Oregon BLM districts that contain Oregon and California Grant Lands and Coos Bay Wagon Road lands. The RAC operates under the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act of 2000, as reauthorized for one additional year as part of the 2013 Helium Stewardship Act. The committee members review project proposals and recommend their highest priorities for funding to the Secretary of Interior. The committee consists of eleven members representing varied interests and areas of expertise.

County departments, watershed councils, forest protective associations and the BLM submitted twenty-six projects totaling $2.2 million to the RAC for stream restoration, law enforcement services, road maintenance, and youth corps projects.

About BLM

The BLM manages more land – more than 245 million acres - than any other Federal agency. This land, known as the National System of Public Lands, is primarily located in 12 Western states, including Alaska. The Bureau, with a budget of about $1 billion, also administers 700 million acres of sub-surface mineral estate throughout the nation. The BLM’s multiple-use mission is to sustain the health and productivity of the public lands for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations. The Bureau accomplishes this by managing such activities as outdoor recreation, livestock grazing, mineral development, and energy production, and by conserving natural, historical, cultural, and other resources on public lands.
