Yaquina Head Lighthouse Closes for Repainting

Newport, Ore. – The Yaquina Head Lighthouse will undergo a Historic Lighthouse Preservation Project beginning in October 2014. The project, which is expected to last 90 days, will involve scaffolding and re-painting the outside of the Lighthouse. The last public tours will be offered on Monday, October 13. The lighthouse will be closed to public access from October 14 through early January 2015.

The Yaquina Head Outstanding Natural Area site and Interpretive Center will remain open during the project. The historic Yaquina Lighthouse will be closed to public tours. Visitors are urged to call 541-574-3100 for additional information or for any other questions regarding the Lighthouse restoration.

The BLM manages more than 245 million acres of public land, the most of any Federal agency. This land known as the National System of Public Lands, is primarily located in 12 western states, including Alaska. The BLM also administers 700 million acres of sub-surface mineral estate throughout the nation. The BLM’s mission is to manage and conserve the public lands for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations under our mandate of multiple-use and sustained yield. In Fiscal Year 2013, the BLM generated $4.7 billion in receipts from public lands.
