Red Flag Warning for northwest Colorado

CRAIG, Colo. –The Grand Junction National Weather Service issued a Red Flag Warning for areas of northwest Colorado from noon today until 10 p.m. this evening. Drier air will combine with gusty south to southwest winds ahead of an approaching cool front to create critical fire weather conditions. A combination of strong winds, low relative humidity and warm temperatures will create explosive fire growth potential. Any fires that develop or are on-going have the ability to spread rapidly. Please curtail outdoor burning today.

Warm and dry weather conditions are forecast for the Labor Day weekeknd.

A Red Flag Warning means that critical fire weather conditions exist or will develop shortly.
