Directions

The South Egan Range Wilderness Area is located in the Egan Range in White Pine, Lincoln and Nye Counties approximately two miles west of Lund, Nevada. Access to the South Egan Range Wilderness Area from Ely is via Federal Highway 6 southbound approximately 20 miles to State Highway 318. State Route 318 parallels the western boundary of the wilderness area. There are a number of dirt roads that lead to the boundary off State Highway 318.

Area Description

The South Egan Range Wilderness Area is a striking and rugged mountain spine running nearly the entire length of the White River Valley. Spectacular vistas give a sense of exhilaration as the landscape falls away dramatically to the valley floor, 4,000 feet below. Numerous riparian areas and pockets of quaking aspen serve to attract an abundant variety of wildlife species which include mule deer, elk, and a variety of upland game birds, such as sage grouse.

There are three routes (cherrystems) that provide access to the ridgeline toward the center of the wilderness area. The West Parker Spring route (not suitable for full-sized vehicles) leads to the ridge and provides views of Mt. Wheeler to the east and over a number of mountain ranges to the west. Several springs feed small, intermittent creeks throughout the wilderness area.

Recreational Opportunities

Recreational opportunities include camping, hiking, backpacking, horseback riding, and hunting. Solitude can be found in any of the many small drainages and washes that run down from the ridgeline. A variety of trees also provide excellent cover throughout the range. If carrying feed for horseback riding, it needs to be certified weed free. Hunting and non-commercial trapping are allowed under state and local laws within the wilderness area. Remember when camping that it is limited to 14 days and campsites are primitive. Please help preserve Nevada's fragile environments, park your vehicle and set up camp in previously used sites. Impact to the area can be minimized by practicing Leave No Trace ethics.

Mechanized and motorized vehicles are NOT PERMITTED in a wilderness area.
