I think one is looking for a problem to a solution. The bulk of the trash (sans casings) are likely left by people that are simply looking to "dump"... not that they are bringing it to be shot. If you look at the very pictures in the appendix, you will see 1) items that are not suitable for target practice (tires) and 2) Items that are not shot. These items apparently have just been dumped. The safety of others is not a real concern, as there have not been any injuries/deaths related to target shooting. Can you say the same for ATV? Perhaps signs that indicate it is violation and/or fine of up to $XXXX for dumping and/or shooting dumped debris would be more effective in bringing it to the few yahoo's that do trash our land. In the problem areas, Thank you. Please keep my BLM land open to responsible target shooters.
