BLM overstepping it's authority

Comment Number: 1

Comment Title: BLM overstepping it's authority

Issue: 10761

Comment:

The BLM is overstepping it's authority and jurisdiction in administrating the million and a half acres of the National Monument. The National Monument Act was enacted to protect obvious archeological structures, which you, the BLM, is loosely basing your actions on. It certainly doesn't have provisions for regulating recreational shooting and it's area of influence was only intended to control perhaps 100 to 200 acres. This is no time to fix what isn't broken. BLM budgets are better put to use elsewhere. If anything, the BLM is pursuing a greater agenda which I suspect is either pursuing backdoor gun control, at the behest of this current administration and Mr. Salazar, or, the eventual Federal takeover of as much state land as possible. In this economy, I cannot afford to have my taxpayer dollars fund a federal organization who cannot explain the reason why this action must be done now.
