REFERENCES

Duncan, R. B. and T. C. Esque. 1986. Draft: An ecological study of a slender salamander at the Guadalupe Creek Study Site of the Santa Rosa Mountains, Riverside, CA.

References -5

Miller, M. E. 1999. Use of Historical Aerial Photography to Study Vegetation Change in the Negrito Watershed, Southwestern New Mexico. Southwestern Naturalist 44: 121-137.

Nicol, K. California Department of Fish and Game, Personal Communication.

References

Palm Springs Desert Resorts Convention and Visitors Bureau, Spring 2000. “Palm Springs Desert Resorts Fact Sheet”.

Quinn, Harry. 1992. “Some Early Cahuilla Indian Trails in and Around the Santa Rosa Mountain Area, Riverside County, California”. In: A Collection of Papers on the Santa Rosa Mountain Area Riverside County, California, Paper Number One. Unpublished manuscript on file at Palm Springs –South Coast Field Office, BLM.

U.S. Census Bureau, Census 2000.

