Envisioning Sessions

Mojave Trails National Monument

The public is invited to participate in public sessions to share information about the Mojave Trails National Monument

The Bureau of Land Management will be hosting three envisioning sessions for the public to share what they value most within the newly designated Mojave Trails National Monument.

Information about the presidential proclamation, current land use plans, and upcoming efforts will be provided.

Your interests and concerns are important. These sessions are an opportunity to express what you value in the Mojave Trails National Monument before the BLM planning process begins.

Sessions will have an informal open house format. The same kind of information will be provided at each location.

Please participate! See you soon!
