Salem BLM Office Renovations Will Affect Visitor Access

Salem, Ore. —The Bureau of Land Management, Salem District, is renovating the south Salem office. Energy efficient windows and skylights are being installed, aging hot water boilers are being replaced, the security system is being updated and a photovoltaic system is being installed using American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) funding.

Construction at the main entrance will affect visitor access. For visitors needing ADA access assistance from June through August, 2011, please call (503) 375-5646. A BLM employee will provide escorted access through a separate entrance.

Additional information about BLM's ARRA projects is available online at:

About the BLM: The BLM manages more land – 245 million surface acres – than any other Federal agency. This land, known as the National System of Public Lands, is primarily located in 12 Western States, including Alaska. The Bureau, with a budget of about $1 billion, also administers 700 million acres of sub-surface mineral estate throughout the nation. The BLM's multiple-use mission is to sustain the health and productivity of the public lands for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations. The Bureau accomplishes this by managing such activities as outdoor recreation, livestock grazing, mineral development, and energy production, and by conserving natural, historical, cultural, and other resources on public lands.
