Representatives Needed for Eastern Washington Resource Advisory Council

Spokane, Wash. – The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) is seeking public nominations for the Eastern Washington Resource Advisory Council (RAC) that advises the BLM on public land issues. The BLM will consider nominations through March 27, 2014.

Nominations are being accepted for:

- One member representing historical & archaeological interests.
- One member representing education and interpretation interests.
- One member representing BLM grazing lessees.
- One member representing commercial timber interests.
- One member representing transportation and rights-of-way interests.
- One member representing commercial energy and mineral development interests.
- Three members representing environmental & ecological conservation interests.

The Eastern Washington RAC, composed of citizens chosen for their expertise in natural resource issues, helps the Bureau carry out its stewardship of public lands in the State of Washington. “The advice given to the BLM by these citizen-based Resource Advisory Councils is a vital part of the BLM’s collaborative approach to land management,” said BLM Oregon/Washington State Director Jerry Perez. “Citizen input enhances our agency’s ability to administer and conserve these lands for the use and enjoyment of current and future generations of Americans.”

Individuals may nominate themselves or others to serve on the Eastern Washington RAC. Nominees, who must be residents of the State of Washington, will be judged on the basis of their training, education, and knowledge of the council’s geographic area. Nominees should also demonstrate a commitment to consensus building and collaborative decision making. All nominations must be accompanied by letters of reference from any represented interests or organizations, a completed and signed RAC application, and any other information that speaks to the nominee’s qualifications.
