

Spring Workshops 2009

Making Moccasins

Saturday, February 28

11:00AM - 3:00PM

Space is limited to the first 10 participants

Cost: $30.00 (includes entrance to the Center and supplies)

During the Oregon Trail era, moccasins were the preferred footwear of Native Americans, hunters, traders, and settlers. Come join us in recreating this popular form of shoe known for its casual comfort. Guided instruction will be provided as well as helpful examples.

The workshop will begin at 11 AM, allowing an hour for lunch (please supply your own).

Supplies will be available; you are welcome to bring your own embellishments. Cost includes admission to the Interpretive Center. Plan to come early to enjoy the exhibits and daily programming.

For additional information or to register for the workshop call 541-523-1843.

Registration ends February 25, 2009.

Leather Tooling Workshop

Saturday, March 14th, 2009

11:00AM - 3:00PM

Space is limited to the first 12 participants, so register early

Cost: $15 (includes supplies, fees, and admission to the Interpretive Center)

During the 1800s mountain men, pioneers, and Native Americans used leather tooling techniques to cover precious books, sheath axe handles, and embellish leather goods, which preserved and enhanced these objects. Come learn the ancient technique of tooling leather.

For new or experienced leather workers; Marty Harriman, Instructor.

Supplies will be available, but you are welcome to bring your own should you choose.

There will be half an hour lunch break (please bring your own lunch).

For additional information or to register for the workshop call 541-523-1843.

Registration closes on Feb. 28th.
