Hello,

I would like BLM to open up more land to logging for the benefit of all. Now that the Jo. Cty. law enforcement levy has failed it seems to me that the federal government needs to relax restrictions and allow logging so communities can survive. It is immoral that 80% of public land is owned by the government and 'we the people' are not allowed to harvest timber to eat. I know that BLM does it's best to manage the lands but they need to do more to help the local governments make use of the renewable resources that God has blessed the area with. Why are we putting animals, owls, fish and frogs above starving, unemployed people? This needs to change and it needs to change now. My hope is that BLM will pressure the government to stop the stranglehold on Oregon land and open it up to help the economy long term. We need a wide spread repeal of legislation and ridiculous environmental protections. I also hope BLM will be a voice to get legislation passed to outlaw frivolous environmental lawsuits by activist groups who do not pay a dime to waste the courts time, money and stop people from developing their own land. Please use Texas as a model. We can do better for Oregon. Please do not do any more 'managing' of blm lands if it does not include opening up lands to more public use, logging, mining and hunting. People are unemployed, losing homes and starving. It's time to stop 'managing' the forest for only the benefit of the animals and trees. PEOPLE out here need BLM as a strong advocate in the equation.
