Dear BLM,

I am opposed to increased timber harvesting from our state. It is incredible to watch train load after train load of lumber being shipped from our forests and to think that industrialists want to increase the amount. In today's environment it is easy to perceive that there is a limit to the supply. Visionaries from early in our century such as Judge John B. Waldo could understand the delicate balance and limited nature of our land. Back then the sheep industry threatened to forever change our land's future and now the lumber industry could continue to deplete our ancient forests and natural areas while affecting our delicate atmosphere. There should not be an increase in logging to what may be a predicted sustainable limit based on capital interests when a long term environmental sustainable limit may already have been exceeded.

Concerned,
