To The Bureau Of Land Management,

JAN 11 2008

I beg you to consider the horrific consequences of allowing the timber industries to cut down our last remaining old growth forests in our precious state of Oregon. Please do not let the Bush Administration get away with another corrupt policy. Listen to the people! The people are crying out for you to spare what is beautiful and sacred and vital for the continuation of our planet, this includes the species of humankind!

I am a 20 year old student and hope to someday share with my son or daughter the beauty and splendor of our beloved forests. Please, you have the power to make this happen. Look inside your hearts and see the compassion and indeed desire to save our remaining heritage that stand proudly in amongst the mountains and rivers, and connect all of us to our own longevity. How could greed have a stronger force than the wisdom of the old- growth forests.

I foresee thousands of letters such as this, flooding your mailbox, the sign that we, the people, are crying for what must never be lost! And if that does not work, we will be in the forest, face to face, in front of the chainsaws, preventing the murder of our sacred grandmothers.

With the utmost faith in your wisdom,
