Dear Bureau of Land Management,

The clean cutting of old growth forests is immoral.

The Forest has a soul. Which is why I always recommend that children & others visit There at least once a year for Their beauty & serenity. Anyone who has ever visited There know what I am talking about. No greater treasure, shelter, creator of oxygen & healing exists. You could make more $ by letting people from other countries that have no longer have such trees... Let them visit for a short time. Without this majestic beauty the world is a poorer place.

Please do not bow to the corporate interests in this matter.

This is my first letter on this subject. Really to be for trees is to be for LIFE on Earth. Think of Salmon, clean water, peace, wildlife & plant habitat, Soulness of Ancient Forests, sustainable economies. Plus I learn it is illegal. Stop this new moronic move by Bush. Think of Global warming for endangered species now includes all of us. There is a better way. DON'T undo WORK. Thank you.

Sincerely, Robert Gutterman 2536232[illegible]
