Dear BLM,

I am very concerned that BLM is to implement the WOPR management plan. I feel that this will drastically affect our air and water quality. I will also affect the habitat for all wild life and threatens many endangered species.

I am not opposed to all logging. I feel that it is beneficial to thin second growth forests in order to protect homes from wild fires, improve the health of the forest and provide local mills with wood.

I am very much opposed to clear cutting our old growth forests. My family has enjoyed hiking and back packing in our old growth forests. The serenity of these forests provide a much needed respite from the noise, air pollution and the general hectic whirl of our every day lives. People from all over the world come to our area to enjoy our unique forests and clean, wild rivers that are rarely available in the rest of the world.

My fear is that our old growth forests, with trees hundreds of years old, will no longer exist for our grand children and will only be ‘old time’ tales told by grandparents.

Sincerely,
