

U.S. Department of the Interior
Bureau of Land Management

Outdoor Recreation Planner

Make a Career of It!

Thanks to Bureau of Land Management (BLM) outdoor recreation planners, visitors to public lands can enjoy a wide variety of options for outdoor fun and adventure. From whitewater rafting to mountain biking, hiking to camping, outdoor recreation planners help shape great experiences in the great outdoors.

The job title tells only part of the story. Yes, outdoor recreation planners develop plans and designs for recreation sites and trails. But they also make recommendations on recreational land use, present programs on outdoor activities, conduct patrols, and perform many other tasks to ensure that visitors experience public lands safely.

Interested? Please visit www.opm.gov/qualifications

U.S. Department of the Interior
Bureau of Land Management

Outdoor Recreation Planner

Make a Career of It!

blm.gov/careers