Upper Colorado River Recreation Site Season Pass Decals Now Available

Kremmling, Colo. – Beginning March 10, new day-use season pass decals for the Upper Colorado River Recreation Sites are now available.

A season pass sticker authorizes day use at the Pumphouse and Radium Recreation Areas for one vehicle, motorcycle or bicycle and its occupants. Season passes are non-transferable and do not include a discount for camping.

“Last year more than 90,000 people enjoyed one of Colorado’s most scenic river corridors. These passes will make it more convenient for the public to visit, and proceeds will be used to maintain public infrastructure like the boat launch and restrooms,” said Kremmling Field Office Manager Bill Mills.

Season passes may be purchased in-person or by calling the Kremmling Field Office at (970) 724-3000 and paying by credit card, or by sending a $20 check to the Kremmling Field Office. Check should be made payable to: USDI - Bureau of Land Management. Mailing address: P.O. Box 68, 2103 E. Park Ave. Kremmling, CO 80459.

Maps and additional information are also available online or via hard copy at the Kremmling Field Office. While office access may be limited during ongoing COVID-19 impacts, please call ahead at 970-724-3000 to ensure availability of documents and staff.

Last year, recreation on lands managed by BLM Colorado generated $692 million and supported nearly 6,000 jobs.

The BLM manages more than 245 million acres of public land located primarily in 11 Western states, including Alaska. The BLM also administers 700 million acres of sub-surface mineral estate throughout the nation. The agency’s mission is to sustain the health, diversity, and productivity of America’s public lands for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations. Diverse activities authorized on these lands generated $111 billion in economic output across the country in fiscal year 2020—more than any other agency in the Department of the Interior. These activities supported more than 498,000 jobs.
