Petroglyphs in the Classroom—4th Grade

What: Invite a Park Ranger to teach students about petroglyphs.

Activity: Each student will make their own petroglyph, chipping paint off of a clay disc.

Discuss: The challenges of cross cultural communication as students interpret both their own and historic petroglyphs.

Review: The ranger shares free educational material with students who correctly answer questions about petroglyphs.

How: Email Park Ranger Jim Flook at dflook@blm.gov or call 702-515-5352.

Timeline: Please schedule at least 2 weeks in advance on a Wed, Thur, or Fri.

Option 1: Classroom Format: 1 hour of classroom time, up to 3 per school.

Option 2: Assembly Format: 75 minutes of Multi-Purpose Room time, up to 2 per school.

Equipment Needed: Computer and projector for a power point presentation

Supplies: Butcher paper or something that covers desks will minimize the mess. (Ranger provides all other activity supplies.)

Every Kid Outdoors

4th grade students are eligible to receive the free EKO pass, which allows for free admission into America's public lands. Any family with the 4th grader is also granted free admission. EKO passes will be issued as part of the classroom visit.
