Dear Staff:

Re: Fracking at Lake Lewisville, TX

I have just read in The Dallas Morning News that you are planning to start fracking at this site in North Texas. This is a very fragile lake area. The Corps of Engineers is concerned that a dam at one end of the lake is in serious trouble and could collapse with any bad weather. This collapse could cause major flooding to an entire populated region of the Dallas area.

Any fracking near this lake could cause a disaster. I hope you will rethink this plan and speak to others who work directly with our lakes. Please do not move forward with your plans.

Yours truly,

Mary Mallardi
