Re: Drilling lease on Lewisville Lake

I am very concerned about the potential drilling on Lewisville Lake in Denton County, Texas. This is a public park, and also a source of drinking water. There is absolutely no justification for threatening the wellbeing of countless property owners, park users and water drinkers with the potential contamination of a 30,000 acre lake so corporations can make more money. With recent stories about water contamination in Flint and ground water being ruined in other areas near gas wells, this is a terrifically bad idea. I can't emphasize enough how strongly I am AGAINST any drilling lease on the lake.

Sincerely,

Scott Dufford
