EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

In Washington, a search and rescue operation occurred over the weekend near Mount Storm King in Olympic National Park. Two hikers were descending a slope with rocky terrain when one slipped. The 21-year old male resident of Oregon fell approximately 20 to 30 feet and tumbled an additional 100 feet before landing. Search and rescue efforts began Friday, and the individual's remains were located Saturday morning. This incident has received local media attention.

OUTSIDE MEDIA OF INTEREST (new)

After Trump Shrinks Bears Ears, It Will Still Be Larger Than Zion And Bryce Combined, Says Interior Secretary.

The Salt Lake \(UT\) Tribune (11/13, Burr) reports that Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke

“says he believes President Donald Trump will trim Utah’s Bears Ears National Monument as he recommended but it will still be larger than Zion and Bryce national parks combined.” Doing so “could mean a dramatic reduction from the current 1.35 million acres to somewhere north of 180,000 acres,” since “Zion covers 147,000 acres and Bryce nearly 36,000 acres.” State officials “had asked Trump to cut Bears Ears down to 120,000 acres.” Zinke “noted that he believes Trump will follow his recommendations, which in the case of Bears Ears and Grand Staircase, would return hundreds of thousands of acres back to land managed by the Bureau of Land Management or the Forest Service and open access for oil and gas exploration and other uses that are blocked by the monument status.”

Tribal Loan Program Needs More Oversight, Watchdog Says.

Law360 (11/13, Crosby) reports that “a federal program meant to help tribes and individual Native Americans secure otherwise impossible-to-get financing has approved risky, oversized loans without first requiring proof that the money would benefit Native American communities, actions that unnecessarily put taxpayers on the hook, a federal watchdog said in a scathing report released Monday.” The report by the Interior Department’s Office for Inspector General “said that federal authorities inconsistently applied federal law governing the loan program.”

Senate Panel To Mark Up ANWR Proposal This Week.

Natural Gas Intelligence (11/13, Passut) reports that “a Senate panel plans to meet this week to mark up a proposal to open a portion of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (ANWR) to oil and gas development, which may require the Department of Interior (DOI) to hold at least two lease sales for the region over the next decade.” The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee has “scheduled a meeting Wednesday to consider reconciliation legislation attached to a $4 trillion federal budget bill for fiscal year 2018, which the Senate passed along mostly partisan lines on Oct. 19.” The measure “includes language to open 2,000 acres of the 1.5-million acre coastal plain portion of ANWR, a region also known as the 1002 Area, to energy development. ANWR covers 19 million acres in total.”

Federal Court Rules In Favor Of National Park Service.

The AP (11/13) reports that “the U.S. Court of Appeals decided that the National Park Service does not need to substantively assess the elk hunt every year to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act.” The court held “last week that a decade-old plan, a 2007 environmental impact statement, was adequate.” The Jackson Hole (WY) News & Guide (11/13, Koshmrl) reports that appeals court concluded: “An agency is not required to make a new assessment under NEPA every time it takes a step that implements a previously studied action. The 2007 EIS was clearly sufficient to cover elk hunting during the ensuing fifteen years under the 2007 plan, absent a material change causing unforeseen environmental consequences.”

Complicated U.S. Relations Leave Veterans Without Full Health Benefits.

In a story on Hawaii Public Radio (11/9, Hiraishi) reporter Ku'uwehi Hiraishi "shares the story" of veterans from the Republic of the Marshall Islands, Federated States of Micronesia, and the Republic of Palau. The article notes that "serving in the U.S. military does not automatically qualify veterans for full health benefits." Emi Chutaro, Executive Director of the Pacific Islands Health Officers Association or PIHOA, explained, "The three U.S. territories Guam, American Samoa, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Marianas Islands because they're U.S. territories, they are fully eligible for VA services cause they are U.S. citizens. It's a different situation to the veterans that are coming from the freely associated states because they aren't U.S. citizens."

FEMA Approves VI Government's Application For Community Disaster Loan; DSNAP Sees 7,400 Applicants In Three Days.

The Virgin Islands Consortium \(VIR\) (11/9, Gilbert) reports that "the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has approved the territory's request for a community disaster loan, which makes available $500 million to the government over the course three fiscal years." The money is "part of a $36.5 billion disaster relief measure Congress approved last month."

EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

In Washington, a search and rescue operation occurred over the weekend near Mount Storm King in Olympic National Park. Two hikers were descending a slope with rocky terrain when one slipped. The 21-year old male resident of Oregon fell approximately 20 to 30 feet and tumbled an additional 100 feet before landing. Search and rescue efforts began Friday, and the individual's remains were located Saturday morning. This incident has received local media attention.

OUTSIDE MEDIA OF INTEREST (new)

After Trump Shrinks Bears Ears, It Will Still Be Larger Than Zion And Bryce Combined, Says Interior Secretary.

The Salt Lake (UT) Tribune (11/13, Burr) reports that Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke “says he believes President Donald Trump will trim Utah’s Bears Ears National Monument as he recommended but it will still be larger than Zion and Bryce national parks combined.” Doing so “could mean a dramatic reduction from the current 1.35 million acres to somewhere north of 180,000 acres,” since “Zion covers 147,000 acres and Bryce nearly 36,000 acres.” State officials “had asked Trump to cut Bears Ears down to 120,000 acres.” Zinke “noted that he believes Trump will follow his recommendations, which in the case of Bears Ears and Grand Staircase, would return hundreds of thousands of acres back to land managed by the Bureau of Land Management or the Forest Service and open access for oil and gas exploration and other uses that are blocked by the monument status.”

Tribal Loan Program Needs More Oversight, Watchdog Says.

Law360 (11/13, Crosby) reports that “a federal program meant to help tribes and individual Native Americans secure otherwise impossible-to-get financing has approved risky, oversize loans without first requiring proof that the money would benefit Native American communities, actions that unnecessarily put taxpayers on the hook, a federal watchdog said in a scathing report released Monday.” The report by the Interior Department’s Office for Inspector General “said that federal authorities inconsistently applied federal law governing the loan program.”

Senate Panel To Mark Up ANWR Proposal This Week.

Natural Gas Intelligence (11/13, Passut) reports that “a Senate panel plans to meet this week to mark up a proposal to open a portion of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (ANWR) to oil and gas development, which may require the Department of Interior (DOI) to hold at least two lease sales for the region over the next decade.” The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee has “scheduled a meeting Wednesday to consider reconciliation legislation attached to a $4 trillion federal budget bill for fiscal year 2018, which the Senate passed along mostly partisan lines on Oct. 19.” The measure “includes language to open 2,000 acres of the 1.5-million acre coastal plain portion of ANWR, a region also known as the 1002 Area, to energy development. ANWR covers 19 million acres in total.”

Federal Court Rules In Favor Of National Park Service.

The AP (11/13) reports that “the U.S. Court of Appeals decided that the National Park Service does not need to substantively assess the elk hunt every year to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act.” The court held “last week that a decade-old plan, a 2007 environmental impact statement, was adequate.” The Jackson Hole (WY) News & Guide (11/13, Koshmrl) reports that appeals court concluded: “An agency is not required to make a new assessment under NEPA every time it takes a step that implements a previously studied action. The 2007 EIS was clearly sufficient to cover elk hunting during the ensuing fifteen years under the 2007 plan, absent a material change causing unforeseen environmental consequences.”

Complicated U.S. Relations Leave Veterans Without Full Health Benefits.

In a story on Hawaii Public Radio (11/9, Hiraishi) reporter Ku‘uwehi Hiraishi “shares the story” of veterans from the Republic of the Marshall Islands, Federated States of Micronesia, and the Republic of Palau. The article notes that “serving in the U.S. military does not automatically qualify veterans for full health benefits.” Emi Chutaro, Executive Director of the Pacific Islands Health Officers Association or PIHOA, explained, “The three U.S. territories – Guam, American Samoa, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands because they’re U.S. territories, they are fully eligible for VA services cause they are U.S. citizens. It’s a different situation to the veterans that are coming from the freely associated states because they aren’t U.S. citizens.”

FEMA Approves VI Government’s Application For Community Disaster Loan; DSNAP Sees 7,400 Applicants In Three Days.

The Virgin Islands Consortium (VIR) (11/9, Gilbert) reports that “the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has approved the territory’s request for a community disaster loan, which makes available $500 million to the government over the course three fiscal years.” The money is “part of a $36.5 billion disaster relief measure Congress approved last month.”

DEPARTMENT PRESS RELEASES

Secretary Zinke Applauds President Trump’s Nomination of Tim Petty for Interior Department

Petty brings decades of scientific work, and diverse Alaska, California, and Idaho experience to Interior

WASHINGTON – Yesterday, President Donald J. Trump announced the nomination of Dr. Timothy R. Petty to be the Assistant Secretary for Water and Science at the U.S. Department of the Interior. U.S. Secretary of the Interior Ryan Zinke cheered the nomination. The Assistant Secretary for Water and Science is responsible for overseeing the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) and the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation (USBR).

Dr. Petty currently serves as Deputy Legislative Director and Legislative Assistant on issues of water, natural resources, environment, science, technology and telecommunications and space for U.S. Senator James E. Risch of Idaho, a member of the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources. Previously, Dr. Petty served as Acting Assistant Secretary and Deputy Assistant Secretary for Water & Science at DOI under President George W. Bush.
