No need to email me each time one is ready, I will just pick up whatever is in the mail slot; those are not ready at that time, and those that come in later, will get picked up the following week.

Room 5020. I'll do my best to email you when I have the documents ready, or you can check with me before coming to pick up. Sometimes they're not ready immediately.

Thank you - and what is your room number? I'll put a recurring note in my calendar to pick these up every Friday afternoon.

Officially, I have to route each correspondence record that's routed to me from Exec Sec. If not, the record will show as untouched. However, I will hold the originals and put them in a mail slot in my office labeled with your name.

In the future, could you print these out and keep them in one place rather than emailing them to me? I would then pick them up once a week and send them for processing with the other public comments.
