MEDIA TODAY

MEDIA ON NATIONAL MONUMENT REVIEW

Trump May Strip Protections From 10 National Monuments.

The Los Angeles Times (9/18, Halper) reports that the Trump Administration's plan to reduce "protections at America's national monuments appears far more expansive than previously reported, targeting 10 of the nation's most ecologically sensitive landscapes and marine preserves for diminished protection." The plan submitted last month by Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke "would shrink the borders at half a dozen monuments and ocean preserves and open four others up for uses such as commercial fishing, logging and coal mining, according to a copy of the blueprint obtained by the Wall Street Journal and Washington Post." The Times says the plan, if enacted, would have a "dramatic" impact on the West.

The New York Times (9/18, Turkewitz, Popovich, McCann) lists the 10 monuments "designated for changes under Mr. Zinke's proposal." They are: Bears Ears, Utah; Gold Butte, Nevada; Grand Staircase-Escalante, Utah; Cascade-Siskiyou, Oregon and California; Pacific Remote Islands, Pacific Ocean; Rose Atoll, Pacific Ocean; Katahdin Woods and Waters, Maine; Organ Mountains-Desert Peaks, New Mexico; Rio Grande del Norte, New Mexico; and Northeast Canyons and Seamounts, Atlantic Ocean.

David Muir said on ABC World News Tonight (9/18, story 11, 0:20) that President Trump has suggested “that former presidents wrongly seized the property.” USA Today (9/18, Sullivan) writes that the draft report quotes Zinke saying adherence to the 1906 Antiquities Act definitions “were either arbitrary or likely politically motivated or boundaries could not be supported by science or reasons of practical resource management.”

Reuters (9/18, Harvey, Volcovici, Gardner) reports that “Zinke also called for relaxing current restrictions within some of the monuments’ boundaries for activities such as grazing, logging, coal mining and commercial fishing.” The AP (9/18, Daly) says that the draft report recommendations “cap an unprecedented four-month review based on Trump’s claim that 1906 Antiquities Act has been misused by recent presidents to create oversized monuments that hinder energy development, grazing and other uses.”

BBC News \(UK\) (9/18) reports that Zinke also “suggests exploring the possibility of recognising three new national monuments: Kentucky’s Camp Nelson, an 1863 Union Army outpost where African American regiments trained; the Mississippi home of murdered civil rights leader Medgar Evers; and the Badger-Two Medicine area in Montana, which is sacred ground for the Blackfeet Nation.”

The Washington Post (9/18, Eilperin) reports that “environmental and outdoor recreation groups threatened Monday to sue if President Trump adopts Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke’s leaked proposal to alter nearly a dozen national monuments, while grazing, fishing and other groups welcomed the recommendations.” Meanwhile, “former Interior secretary Sally Jewell, who oversaw several of the monument designations Zinke is proposing to alter, said in an interview Monday that ‘the protections that are written into the proclamations are in many cases what he’s trying to undo, in his recommendations to President Trump.’” She added, “It’s a monument in name only if all the activities that are identified by Secretary Zinke are allowed to occur.”

The Deseret \(UT\) News (9/18, O'Donoghue) reports that Rep. Rob Bishop, chairman of the House Committee on Natural Resources, “criticized the monument leak.” Bishop said in a statement, “The fact this was leaked is troubling and merits an immediate and thorough investigation. The president should have the time to evaluate the secretary’s review and develop actions without the encumbrance of incomplete information being leaked to the press.”

Also reporting are the Los Angeles Times (9/18, Halper), the Monterey County \(CA\) Herald (9/18, Rogers), the Riverside \(CA\) Press Enterprise (9/18), the Ventura County \(CA\) Star (9/18, Roth), the St. George \(UT\) Spectrum (9/18, DeMille), the Missoula Current \(MT\) (9/18), the Albuquerque \(NM\) Journal (9/18, Coleman), the Daily Intelligencer \(NY\) (9/18, Hart), Newsweek (9/18, Paton), TIME (9/18), The Guardian \(UK\) (9/18, Milman), The Guardian \(UK\) (9/18, Milman), BBC News \(UK\) (9/18), The Week (9/18, Weber), The Verge (9/18, Becker), KRWG-FM Las Cruces \(NM\) Las Cruces, NM (9/18), KFVE-TV Honolulu Honolulu (9/18), and KTLA-TV Los Angeles Los Angeles (9/18).

4 US Monuments To Be Scaled Back Hold Artifacts, Key Habitat. The AP (9/18, McCOMBS) reports that Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke’s “recommendation to shrink four sprawling national monuments in the U.S. West jeopardizes protections for ancient cliff dwellings, scenic canyons and habitat for endangered fish and threatened Mojave desert tortoises.” The affected monuments include Utah’s Bears Ears and Grand Staircase-Escalante, along with Nevada’s Gold Butte and Oregon's Cascade-Siskiyou.

Leaked Memo: Zinke Wants Smaller Monuments, But How Small? The Salt Lake \(UT\) Tribune (9/19, Maffly) reports that Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke “clearly has his sights on trimming national monuments in southern Utah, but his official report to President Donald Trump is so short on specifics it remains unclear where any ‘revised’ boundaries to Bears Ears and Grand Staircase-Escalante would fall.” Zinke’s “call for a smaller Bears Ears is not sitting well with the Navajo Nation, one of five tribes that proposed the monument.” According to Navajo Nation Attorney General Ethel Branch, “that recommendation – along with Zinke’s request that Congress make other conservation designations – contradict all the input provided by the tribe.”

Also reporting are KSL-TV Salt Lake City Salt Lake City (9/18, O'Donoghue), KSTU-TV Salt Lake City Salt Lake City (9/18, Edwards), and KTVX-TV Salt Lake City Salt Lake City (9/18).

Applause, Criticism Greet Leak Of Zinke's Monument Recommendations. The Las Vegas Review-Journal (9/18, Martin, Brea) reports that the Gold Butte recommendation was “applauded by Republicans and denounced by Democrats.” Sen. Dean Heller, said the designation is “an example of extreme overreach and the failed Washington-knows-best mentality.” Rep. Dina Titus said: “Secretary Zinke leaked a memo in the middle of the night because he knows his plan to hack away at monuments like Gold Butte is an overreach opposed by the majority of Americans.”

The AP (9/18, Ritter) reports that the leaked memo brought “a measured cheer from the head of a southern Nevada water district with springs in the area.” Kevin Brown, general manager of the Virgin Valley Water District, “said Monday that the boundary change his agency sought from Zinke covers about 25 square miles (65 square kilometers) in the Virgin Mountains.”

Also reporting are the St. George \(UT\) Spectrum (9/18, Thomas), KSNV-TV Las Vegas Las Vegas (9/18, Rosch), and KTNV-TV Las Vegas Las Vegas (9/18).

Zinke Recommendation To Cut Cascade-Siskiyou Questioned. The AP (9/18, Selsky) reports that Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke’s proposal “recommending downsizing the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument has several errors, one of the people who was behind the creation of the monument said Monday.” A memo “justifying his recommendation that the boundaries of the monument, which lies mostly in Oregon and crosses over into California, be ‘revised’ says motor vehicles aren’t allowed in it.” Dave Willis, the chairman of the Soda Mountain Wilderness Council, asked, “There are hundreds of roads inside this monument. I live on private land inside the monument. Do we walk or ride horses?”

Also reporting are the Salem \(OR\) Statesman Journal (9/18, Theen), the Redding \(CA\) Record-Searchlight (9/18, Daly), and KGW-TV Portland \(OR\) Portland, OR (9/18, Roth).

No Boundary Changes For New Mexico's 2 National Monuments. The AP (9/18, Bryan) reports that the recommendations for the Rio Grande del Norte monument and the Organ Mountains-Desert Peaks monument “would remain unchanged under recommendations made by U.S. Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke, providing some relief to the groups that had come out in support of the designations.” The recommendations “do call for making public access a priority as well as the pursuit of congressional authority to enable Native American tribes to help manage cultural areas within the boundaries.”

The Las Cruces \(NM\) Sun-News (9/18, Soular) reports that the memo was “met Monday with wide-ranging reactions from Doña Ana County residents and New Mexico’s federal lawmakers.”

Also reporting are Santa Fe New Mexican (9/18, Oxford), the Silver City \(NM\) Sun-News (9/17, Peerman), the Silver City \(NM\) Sun-News (9/18, Soular), the Las Cruces \(NM\) Sun-News (9/18), the Santa Fe \(NM\) Reporter (9/18, Grubs), and Albuquerque \(NM\) Business First (9/18, Ortiz).

Zinke Would Allow Trees To Be Cut At Katahdin Woods & Waters. The AP (9/18, Sharp) reports that Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke “wants to allow trees to be cut on parts of the Katahdin Woods and Waters National Monument and to ensure that ‘traditional uses’ like snowmobiling and hunting are taken into account in a management plan that’s being drawn up.” According to the article, “it was unclear what Zinke meant when he recommended ‘active timber management’ to promote a healthy forest on the 87,500-acre (35,410-hectare) property.” However, “an environmental group said commercial logging would ‘almost certainly’ trigger a lawsuit.” Lisa Pohlmann of the Natural Resources Council of Maine said, “Commercial logging could cause substantial harm to the natural resources protected by the monument and to the economic and recreation benefits already emerging at Katahdin Woods and Waters.”

In an editorial, the Portland \(ME\) Press Herald (9/19) says “that uncertainty is the biggest danger of the destructive and unnecessary process that has been unleashed on the region by the Trump administration and its allies here in Maine.” According to the paper, “even people who initially opposed the idea of a federally managed park in the Maine woods were ready to give it a try.” However, “with constant political interference, it won’t have much of a chance.”

Also reporting are the Boston Globe (9/19, Abel), the Portland \(ME\) Press Herald (9/18, Miller), and the Bangor \(ME\) Daily News (9/18, Sambides).

Zinke: Open Up First Atlantic Monument To Commercial Fishing. The AP (9/18, Whittle) reports that Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke recommended opening up the Northeast Canyons and Seamounts Marine National Monument to commercial fishing. Zinke’s memo “states that instead of prohibiting commercial fishing, the government should allow it in the area under the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act, which is the primary law governing the U.S.’s marine fisheries and meant to prevent overfishing and guarantee a safe source of seafood.” His memo says “that the monument was established ‘to protect geologic features, natural resources, and species,’ but regulators have charged that it disrupts their ability ‘to manage species to balance protection with commercial fishing.’”

Tribune Editorial: Zinke’s Report Leaves A Monumental Mess. In an editorial, the Salt Lake \(UT\) Tribune (9/19) criticizes the draft report for making the “future of those monuments, especially Utah’s Bears Ears and Grand Staircase-Escalante...even more muddled than it was before.” According to the paper, “Zinke’s report is so maddeningly vague that it provides the White House with little guidance on just what it should do, and what legal rationale it should offer for doing it.” The paper expects that “the path forward now is more confusion, more litigation, more bad blood among neighbors, between Native American Nations and county governments, less time devoted to working up a specific management plan for Bears Ears that might, if everyone approached it in good faith, work out a lot better for everyone than some of us think.”

Mormons Are Among The Few Who Want Less Federally Protected Land. Their History Explains Why. In a piece for the Washington Post (9/18, Colbert), Christine Colbert examines why Mormons are some of the those who are most “opposed to government control of Western lands.” According to Colbert, it boils down to “distrust of the federal government” and “distrust of the outside world.” She concludes that “until Mormon leaders declare their support for such stewardship and call for the preservation of our nation’s greatest treasures, Utah politicians will continue to bend Trump’s ear toward privatization and resource development, reflecting their culture’s historical distrust and proprietary notions regarding the very lands that really belong to all of us, not just a few.”

WH COMMS REPORT (new report filed Monday)Press Inquiries:

- Many small inquiries.
- *Many inquiries regarding monument review and the leaked memo All inquiries are being directed to the White House.
- The Times Independent: (Molly Marcello) –REQUEST-- I'm contacting you again with a question, this time related to Bears Ears National Monument. We just got word that the Southern Utah Wilderness Alliance filed suit against San Juan County's Commissioners regarding meetings they held with Secretary Zinke and DOI staff in May and June. Because these meetings were not publicly posted and the subjects for discussion included issues over which the commissioners have jurisdiction, the lawsuit argues that these meetings violated Utah's Open and Public Meetings Act. I've attached the complaint for reference. Here's what I'm wondering: How did these meetings between DOI staff and San Juan County's elected officials come to be? Were the commissioners invited to speak with Secretary Zinke and staff? Or did the commissioners ask for meetings? What was discussed during these meetings? And, would DOI have any comment on the lawsuit itself?—RESPONSE— The Department does not have a comment on the lawsuit concerning outside parties.

EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT (new)

UPDATE: Senior Advisor David Mihalic has been made coordinator of DOI interactions with FEMA. 467 DOI employees have volunteered to assist, 24 are now set to deploy under wave 9 (depart date Sept 21). Another 26 are set to deploy on Wave 10 (Sept. 25). This will bring the total to 50. They will receive training from FEMA in Anniston, AL.

Hurricane Maria:

As of 5:00 a.m. EDT, the center of Hurricane Maria was located approximately 205 miles to the southeast of St. Croix and moving west-northwest at 9 miles per hour (mph). This general motion is expected to continue through Wednesday. On this track, the eye of Maria will move over the northeastern Caribbean Sea today and approach the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico tonight into Wednesday. Maximum sustained winds are near 155 miles per hour mph, with higher gusts. Maria is a Category 4 hurricane. Some fluctuations in intensity are likely during the next day or two, but Maria is forecast to remain an extremely dangerous Category 4 or 5 hurricane as it approaches the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. Hurricane-force winds extend outward up to 30 miles from the storm's center, and tropical storm-force winds extend outward up to 125 miles.

A Hurricane Warning is in effect for the U.S. Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Culebra, Vieques, the British Virgin Islands, Guadeloupe, Dominica, St. Kitts, Nevis, and Montserrat. A Hurricane Watch is in effect for Saba, St. Eustatius, St. Maarten, St. Martin, St. Barthelemy, Anguilla, and from Isla Saona to Puerto Plata. A Tropical Storm Warning is in effect for Antigua, Barbuda, Saba, St. Eustatius, St. Maarten, Anguilla, St. Lucia, and Martinique. Hurricane conditions should spread throughout portions of the Hurricane Warning area in the Leeward Islands this morning, and hurricane conditions should spread through the remainder of the Hurricane Warning area later today and Wednesday. A dangerous storm surge accompanied by large and destructive waves will raise water levels by as much as 7 to 11 feet above normal tide levels in the Hurricane Warning area near where the center of Maria moves across the Leeward Islands and the British Virgin Islands. Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands could see a storm surge of 6 to 9 feet.

Maria is expected to produce 10 to 15 inches of rainfall in the U.S. and British Virgin Islands and the central and southern Leeward Islands, with isolated amounts of 20 inches. Puerto Rico is forecast to receive 12 to 18 inches, with isolated amounts of 25 inches possible. The northern Leeward Islands could receive 4 to 8 inches of rainfall, with isolated amounts of 10 inches possible. This rainfall could cause life-threatening flash floods and mudslides.

On September 18, the President approved an Emergency Declaration for the U.S. Virgin Islands. This declaration provides Public Assistance for all islands in the territory of the U.S. Virgin Islands and includes debris removal, emergency protective measures, and direct federal assistance.

On September 18, the President also approved an Emergency Declaration for Puerto Rico. This declaration provides for debris removal, emergency protective measures, and direct federal assistance for all 78 municipalities in the Commonwealth.

Support updates to the interagency Hurricane Maria Response:

DOI currently has 49 personnel supporting 1 FEMA Mission Assignment (MA) in response to impending landfall of Hurricane Maria.

DOI Maria Quick Response Teams (QRT) 1 and 2 received U.S. Marshals Service special deputations on September 18, while staged in Orlando, Florida. The teams are scheduled to travel to Puerto Rico today for public safety and security missions.

Internal Maria response activities:

The NPS Caribbean Parks have evacuated non-essential staff from St. John and relocated most staff and family to San Juan, Puerto Rico. Three Eastern Incident Management Teams (EIMT) resources have been dispatched to Puerto Rico. All personnel arrived at the San Juan National Historic Site on September 18, and a Type-3 IMT will manage the relocation of Virgin Islands National Park and Christiansted National Historic Site personnel. The IMT will also manage re-entry to both locations following the storm, as well as support post re-entry operations. Twenty-five NPS maintenance employees and 6 Special Event Team (SET) members remain on St. John. Fourteen NPS employees and one USGS employee remain on St. Croix. Shelter locations have been identified for all personnel remaining on St. John and St. Croix.

USGS reports that the Caribbean-Florida Water Science Center (CFWSC) office in Puerto Rico is closed and will remain closed until further notice. Twelve personnel deployed 14 temporary sensors on the southern and eastern coasts of Puerto Rico from Fajardo to Ponce as part of a training exercise in preparation for Hurricane Maria.

Support updates to the interagency Hurricane Irma Response:

DOI currently has 202 personnel supporting 10 FEMA MAs in response to Hurricane Irma.

In Florida, 27 USGS personnel retrieved storm surge sensors and began analyzing data. To date, 121 surge sensors have been retrieved, 5 sensors were lost, and 32 sensors have been processed. Forty high water marks (HWMs) have been flagged, and 33 HWMs were surveyed. The USGS is coordinating with FEMA Region 4 to amend this MA to perform additional HWMs in the Florida Keys. In Georgia, 3 USGS personnel were in the field retrieving storm surge sensors and analyzing data. All (58) surge sensors have been retrieved, and 42 HWMs have been flagged and surveyed. In South Carolina, 3 personnel processed surge sensor data from 66 (all previously deployed) surge sensors. Ten rapid deployment gages (RDGs) deployed for Irma remain in the field, and 32 HWMs have been flagged and surveyed.

DOI assets associated with public safety and security, have begun demobilization, though some teams may be retained for Hurricane Maria response.

Internal Irma response activities:

NPS reports that the Eastern Incident Management Team (EIMT) continues to operate its Incident Command Post (ICP) from the Krome Center in Homestead, Florida. In the U.S. Virgin Islands, evacuations of non-essential personnel have been conducted. Parks have implemented severe weather plans. OUTSIDE MEDIA OF INTEREST (new)

Trump's Western Firefighters.

In an editorial, the Wall Street Journal (9/18) applauds Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke for issuing a memorandum last week instructing land managers and park superintendents to exercise the "full authority" of their bureaus to clear dying trees and brush in federal lands in order to "proactively work to prevent forest fires." The Journal adds that Congress can help the Administration's efforts to promote better forest management with legislation that reduces litigation against such efforts against fire damage.

MGM Pitches Bridgeport Casino As Feds Delay Tribes' Expansion.

The Connecticut Mirror (9/18, Pazniokas) reports that MGM Resorts International "launched a glitzy new campaign Monday to expand into Connecticut, an effort that curiously coincides with the Trump administration, at least temporarily, halting the state's two federally recognized tribes' from building a casino in East Windsor to compete with a new MGM resort in Springfield, Mass." MGM, "after telling legislators for two years they would be foolish to approve the tribes' plan without an open competition, now is seeking legislation in special session granting it exclusive rights to build a waterfront casino resort in Bridgeport, a gateway to the lucrative New York City gambling market."

Lawsuit Aims To Block Oil Drilling On US Land In Nevada.

The AP (9/18, Sonner) reports environmentalists have sued the BLM "to try to stop it from allowing oil and gas drilling on a vast stretch of federal land in Nevada, where the government is reversing protections put in place nine months ago under the Obama administration." The Sierra Club and Center for Biological Diversity say the BLM "illegally failed to consider potential consequences of hydraulic fracturing, known as fracking, ranging from harm to the greater sage grouse to contamination of fragile desert water sources and emission of climate-altering greenhouse gases."

Stop Seismic Testing Off NC Coast.

In an editorial, the Raleigh \(NC\) News & Observer (9/18) opposes seismic testing in the Atlantic Ocean. It raises concerns that “the testing, and the drilling should exploration proceed, could put coastal marine life in danger.” It also points out that “the truly ludicrous thing about the argument for exploration” is that “oil prices are depressed (excluding the post-hurricane situation) and there are plenty of reserves.”

Will The Southland Wind Up Holding Much Of The $17-billion Bill For The Delta Water Tunnels?

The Los Angeles Times (9/18, Boxall) reports that some of California’s “biggest water districts” are “expected to decide if they want to sign on to California WaterFix — a long-planned proposal to construct two massive tunnels that would change the way water supplies move through the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.” Supporters have “long have operated under the assumption that the cost, now estimated at nearly $17 billion, would be split among customers of the big government water projects according to the size of their contracts for delta supplies.” According to the article, “under that scenario, the largely urban agencies supplied by the State Water Project would pick up 55% of the tunnel tab, and the largely agricultural districts supplied by the federal Central Valley Project would pay for 45%.” However, “as the votes approach, there are growing doubts that agriculture will agree to pay that much.”
