Hello, Rich,

From the BLM website:

Alaska - Under the Midnight Sun of summer and the northern lights of winter, BLM Alaska is a land full of promise -- 72 million acres of mountains, wetlands, and tundra for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations.

California - The BLM manages 15.2 million acres in California and 1.6 million acres in northwestern Nevada for multiple uses and sustained yield -- meeting today's needs while planning for the future.

Utah - The BLM manages nearly 22.9 million acres of public lands in Utah and 32 million subsurface acres, representing about 42 percent of the state.

The new 1.35 million-acre Bears Ears National Monument in southeastern Utah protects one of most significant cultural landscapes in the United States, with thousands of archaeological sites and important areas of spiritual significance.

Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument spans nearly 1.9 million acres of America's public lands.
