Tim, Rusty & Caroline,

You all worked with my colleague Derek Miller in planning the Boston meeting with fishermen on monuments which I moderated for the Secretary. Thank you all for everything related to that successful meeting.

Sean Martin, the president of the Hawai'i Longliners Association is in DC somewhat unexpectedly today. He flew in last night to testify today at the 2pm Magnuson-Stevens Act hearing in House Natural Resources, and flies back early tomorrow morning.

I spoke briefly with Rusty, and left messages for Tim earlier this morning.

I wanted to check in to see if there was any opportunity for Sean to meet with any appropriate person on the Secretary's team. Sean and his organization led the efforts in opposition to the expansion of the Papa and PRIA monuments, and we worked closely with him on that during the past Administration.

I realize it is short notice, but thought it was a great opportunity while he is town for just 24 hours to try to connect. We could even do it in the early evening after hours.

Thanks, and of course I fully understand if it is not possible.
