Media Announcements Today

Interior Announcements Planned for April 21.

- (Released yesterday) “Alan Mikkelsen Named Reclamation's Deputy Commissioner”
WASHINGTON – U.S. Secretary of the Interior Ryan Zinke and Bureau of Reclamation Acting Commissioner David Murillo announced the appointment of Alan Mikkelsen of Montana as Reclamation's Deputy Commissioner.
- DOI & FWS will put out a press release announcing winners of the Junior Duck Stamp contest. This is an annual contest which gets a lot of positive media attention. The funds from stamp sales go to educate and engage youth in wildlife and wetlands conservation and outdoor recreation.

FLAGGING: The Federal Duck Stamp, which is a mandatory purchase for anyone hunting waterfowl in the U.S. will be announced in the coming weeks. In years previous, the winners were invited to the White House. BIG sportsman issue.

Inspector General Report

Summary: Wood Group PSN Pleads Guilty to Submitting False Statements and is Ordered to Pay $7 Million Fine: OIG investigated allegations that Wood Group Production Services Network, Inc. (WGPSN) systematically failed to comply with Bureau of Safety and Environmental Enforcement (BSEE) regulations related to offshore oil platform inspections, and that WGPSN falsified records associated with required platform inspections. The company admitted to submitting 87 false inspection reports to BSEE, and pled guilty to submitting false statements to the Federal Government in violation of Title 18 USC section 1001. Under the plea agreement, WGPSN was ordered to pay criminal fines of $7 million, and make a community service payment of $500,000. Additionally, WGPSN entered into a 3-year corporate compliance agreement with the U.S. Department of the Interior and the Environmental Protection Agency.

Emergency Management

In Florida, the Cowbell Fire on Big Cypress National Preserve has burned 21,815 (no change) acres. The fire is 55 (no change)-percent contained and managed by a Type-1 Incident Management Team with 258 (+20) personnel, including 84 (-4) DOI personnel. There are 25 (no change) residences threatened, and the containment date remains April 30. Moderate fire activity was observed during the reporting period, and additional perimeter growth is possible over the next several days.

In Georgia, the West Mims Fire in the Okefenokee National Wildlife Refuge has burned 25,464 (+2,854) acres. The fire is 3 (no change)-percent contained and managed by a Type-2 Incident Management Team with 385 (+29) personnel, including 85 (+9) DOI personnel. There are 100 (no change) residences and 3 (no change) commercial structures threatened, and the containment date is November 1. Active fire behavior was observed during this reporting period, and additional perimeter growth is likely over the next 72 hours.

Media of Interest

Democrats Ask Secretary Zinke For Documents On Potential Energy Policy Changes.

Law360 (4/20, Powell) reports that “top Democrats on the House Natural Resources Committee asked Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke on Thursday for copies of reports compiled after President Donald Trump ordered the review and possible suspension of regulations that may burden domestic energy development, with the lawmakers citing a need for proper oversight into ‘potentially massive’ policy changes.”

Hatch Speaks With Local Residents On Bears Ears Issue.

The Deseret (UT) News (4/20, O'Donoghue) reports that Sen. Orrin Hatch “toured San Juan County on Thursday and met with local residents over the controversial Bears Ears National Monument designation.” Hatch said, “When President Obama designated the Bears Ears monument in December, he did so ignoring the voices of Utah leaders who were united in opposition, and even more importantly, ignoring the voices of the local Utahns most affected by this massive land grab.” Hatch “said he has met with both President Donald Trump and Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke several times over the designation to discuss the next steps on how to address the ‘mess’ the monument created.” He said that “includes finding ways to alter the monument to still allow for protections but also provide more local control.”

Letter Pushes Congress To Address $12B Repair Effort For National Parks.

The Summit (CO) Daily (4/20, Fixler) reports that “more than 100 supporters from Colorado, including Summit County’s three commissioners, signed a letter sent to U.S. Congress in early April so funds are assigned to address these crucial deficiencies” at national parks “as soon as possible.” Sen. Mark Warner “introduced the National Park Service Legacy Act the week before the letter, with more than 1,800 national signatories, from The Pew Charitable Trusts’ Restore America’s Parks initiative was submitted.” However, “pundits do not have high expectations for the bill, which presently sits in committee.”

Protests Planned For Earth Day.

The Washington Post (4/20, Stein) reports that activists and scientists on Saturday are expected to show up in DC to take part in the Earth Day and March for Science rallies, which the Post says “comes a week after the Tax March and a week before the People’s Climate March.” The Post notes that these constitute part of a series of high profile protests taking place on consecutive weekends in the nation’s capital, with large immigrant and LGBT rallies also forthcoming in May and June. Attendees at last weekend’s Tax March notes that such protests are “effective,” and have “credit[ed] demonstrations throughout the country with thwarting Trump’s travel ban plans and stymieing the Republicans’ proposed health-care plan.”

Environmental Group Sues Over Repeal Of Wildlife Protections In Alaska Refuges.

The Hill (4/20, Wheeler) reports that “an environmental group is suing the Trump administration for repealing protections for wolves, bears and other predatory animals that live on Alaska’s national preserves.” The Center for Biological Diversity is “challenging the constitutionality of the Congressional Review Act (CRA), which Congress used to pass legislation that Trump signed repealing the Department of Interior’s Refuges Rule.” In the lawsuit filed in the federal district court in Anchorage, Alaska, the Center for Biological Diversity “claims that the CRA is unconstitutional because it infringes on the powers of the executive branch in banning agencies from issuing rules in the future that are ‘in substantially the same form’ as rules that have been repealed.”

Three More Areas Off Eastern US Being Considered For Offshore Wind Energy Projects.

The “Morning Energy” blog of Politico (4/20) reported “three additional areas in the Atlantic Ocean” are being considered “for offshore wind energy development — the Long Bay area of South Carolina and broad swaths stretching from Nantucket, Mass., to New York and from New Jersey to Virginia.” BOEM’s renewable energy program manager Jim Bennett said at an offshore wind conference, “We think that there’s much potential for additional areas in the Atlantic.”

Chinese Ad Offers Homes In Palau And US Access.

Radio New Zealand (4/19) reports that “a Chinese website is advertising houses for sale in Palau complete with a range of benefits including the right to live in the Pacific island nation for up to 99 years.” According to the article, “the advertisement offers a Palau Residence Permit as well as direct access to the US after one to two years.” The ad also “offered an easy visa application process from Palau to other countries including Japan, South Korea, the Philippines and Taiwan.”

White House Communications Report (sent to WH Comms, Thursday.)

No report was sent.

Federal Register Notices Cleared for Publishing

Item cleared for the Federal Register on Thursday.
