I'll have a couple more suggested edits in a few minutes. I'll also plan to run past Peg if that's ok.

On the line you just added- should we just say that land will remain public land or remain federal land? Not all federal land has enhanced protections- unless you are saying that by the function of the land being in federal hands it is protected.

After hearing some feedback, I'd like to remind and reassure folks that even if a monument is modified, the land will remain under federal protection. I am strictly opposed to the sale or transfer of our federal lands, and nothing in this review changes that policy.

Downey and Dan - please review the final press release below which includes a statement regarding the close of the comment period and a link to the BENM interim report. The yellow highlight will be a hyperlink once I get the document from execsec. The red is language I added per Downey/Laura rec.

Please send edits by noon.
