Hi Wonsook, (b)(5) ACP

Please let me know if you want me to work up a draft or if BLM is working on one already.

Talk to you later this afternoon.

Thanks.

Laura

I, Amy Lueders, in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1746, declare as follows:

1. I am the Acting Assistant Director, Resources and Planning (RP) in the Washington, DC office of the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), an agency of the U.S. Department of the Interior. I have been the RP Acting Assistant Director since April 2015.
2. Before serving as the RP Acting Assistant Director, I worked for the BLM as the Director of the Nevada State Office for four years and the Associate Director of the Nevada State Office for seven years. Before that, I held various other positions with the BLM, including Field Manager in Las Cruces, New Mexico. I have worked for the BLM for a total of 30 years.

3. As Acting Assistant Director, I am responsible for establishing policy and guidance for BLM's planning, renewable resource, restoration, use, allocation, science, and geographic sciences programs. Program areas in the RP Directorate include Decision Support, Planning, and NEPA; Forest, Rangelands, Riparian and Plant Conservation; Fish and Wildlife Conservation; Cultural, Paleontological Resources and Tribal Consultation; Recreation and Visitor Services; Wild Horses and Burros; and Environmental Quality and Protection.

4. I oversee all aspects of the BLM's Decision Support, Planning, and NEPA division, including but not limited to funding for that division and schedules for BLM land use plan amendments and revisions. I serve as Co-chair of the Department of the Interior's National Sage-grouse Policy Team.

5. In December 2014, my predecessor, Edwin Roberson, submitted a declaration to this Court describing how the BLM is presently undertaking land use plan amendments to incorporate Greater Sage-grouse conservation measures into approximately 98 land use plans in 10 states across the range of the Greater Sage-grouse. These land use plans include all but two of the RMPs challenged by Plaintiff Western Watersheds Project in this suit. The 2014 Roberson declaration describes the BLM's and U.S. Forest Service's (FS's) Greater Sage-grouse planning initiative in detail, including the need for the BLM and FS to prepare 15 draft and final environmental impact statements (EISs); coordinate with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS), state, and local governments; and resolve issues raised during the 30-day protest period for members of the public to protest the proposed plans (see 43 C.F.R. 1610.5-2) and the 60-day "Governor's Consistency review" for the governors in the affected states, potentially including 30-day appeal period depending on the outcome of that review. (43 C.F.R. 1610.3-2(e)).

6. The 2014 Roberson declaration estimated that the BLM would complete the land use planning process and release Records of Decision and Approved plans by August 31, 2015.

7. Since the 2014 Roberson declaration, the BLM has finalized all 15 final EISs,¹ publishing the last notices of availability in the Federal Register on May 29, 2015, including for the Pinedale and Craters of the Moon planning areas. For these proposed planning decisions, the 30-day protest period ended on June 29, 2015. The BLM is now diligently addressing the issues raised in protests and will provide final decisions on protest issues raised as part of the Record of Decision and Approved plans.

8. The 60-day Governor's Consistency review ended on July 29, 2015. The BLM received letters from the Governors of nine states involved in the Greater Sage-grouse planning effort. Specifically, the Governors of Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, and Wyoming each submitted letters to appropriate BLM State Director identifying multiple issues of perceived inconsistency between the BLM's Proposed Plans and the resource related plans, policies, and programs of the State or local government. The Governors' letters also included recommendations to the State Director on changes to be made to the Proposed Plans.

9. On August 6, 2015, the affected BLM State Directors responded to issues raised by the Governors, rejected some recommendations, and accepted some recommendations in whole or in part. The BLM's planning regulations provide 30 days for a governor to appeal a State Director's decision to the Director of the BLM. 43 C.F.R. §1610.3-2(e). Based on the volume of issues raised during the Governors' Consistency review period, the BLM has reason to believe that at least some of the governors will appeal.

10. After receipt of an appeal, the BLM must evaluate the basis for the appeal and must make a determination as to whether the Governors' recommendations provide for a reasonable balance between the national interest and the State's interest. 43 C.F.R. §1610.3-2(e). The BLM Director must then provide a written response to the Governor and shall publish in the Federal Register the reasons to accept or reject the governor's recommendations. 43 C.F.R. §1610.3-2(e). Any responses from a Governor on consistency must be resolved before the BLM issues a ROD. BLM Land Use Planning Handbook, H-1601-1 at 24.

11. In this case, the Governors must appeal to the Director on or before September 8, 2015. Depending on the number of appeals that are received and the content of those appeals, it may take roughly two to three weeks to address the appeals by completing the steps described above. The BLM will not be able to complete its planning process until after the appeals are addressed and intends to issue RODs no later than September 30, 2015.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

I, Eric Mayes, in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1746, declare as follows:

1. I am the Planning and Environmental Coordinator for the Idaho State Office of the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) in Boise, Idaho. I have been the BLM's Idaho State Office National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) Specialist since April, 2011 and assumed the additional duties of Planning and Environmental Coordinator in November, 2015.

2. Prior to my employment at the Idaho State Office, I was the Planning and Environmental Coordinator at the BLM in the Vale, Oregon District for close to five years, from June 2006 to March 2011.

3. As the BLM Idaho Planning and Environmental Coordinator, I serve as the statewide program lead for resource management planning and NEPA compliance. I oversee statewide guidance and provide support to District and Field Offices in the development, revision, and amending of Resource Management Plans (RMPs). I help coordinate planning schedules, State Office, and Washington Office Planning/NEPA (WO-212) branch reviews to support adherence to these planning schedules while providing a level of quality control. I assist the Field and District Offices in the completion of Idaho's ongoing RMP level activities. This includes the Management Plan amendment activities associated with the Craters of the Moon National Monument and Preserve currently underway in the Twin Falls District of the BLM. My duties also include assistance with determining how decisions from the 2015 Approved Greater Sage-Grouse Resource Management Plan Amendment for Idaho and Southwestern Montana have amended the Craters of the Moon Monument Management Plan.

4. In December 2014, Ed Roberson, the Assistant Director, Resources and Planning for the BLM Washington Office, submitted a declaration to this Court describing the status and schedule for the completion of land use planning processes to incorporate Greater Sage-Grouse (GRSG) conservation measures into land use plans in 10 states. That December 2014 Roberson declaration described how BLM intended to issue final decisions for those GRSG land use planning efforts by August 31, 2015. Subsequently, in an August 2015 declaration, Amy Lueders, Acting Assistant Director, Resources and Planning for the BLM Washington Office, provided an updated estimate of September 30, 2015, for the completion of the GRSG land use planning process.

5. Consistent with Ms. Lueders' projection, on September 22, 2015, BLM issued decisions in its GRSG planning effort. Together with the U.S. Forest Service, BLM amended or revised 98 land use plans to incorporate measures to conserve, enhance, and restore GRSG habitat, consistent with the Court's remedy order in this case.

6. In addition, and in accordance with the portion of the Court's remedy order relating to the management of livestock grazing in the Craters of the Moon planning area, BLM developed a timeline for completing a plan amendment for the Craters of the Moon RMP by the end of 2016. While the BLM has worked diligently to complete the plan amendment, due to a number of factors discussed below, BLM's schedule for completing the Craters of the Moon-specific plan amendment was delayed and we are not able to achieve our December 2016 target.

7. During 2015, it became apparent to the Craters of the Moon Planning Team that the GRSG plan amendment decisions would have to precede the Craters of the Moon-specific amendment in order to have an appropriate baseline for the current management (no action) alternative in the Craters of the Moon-specific plan, and to appropriately analyze the environmental effects of the action alternatives. Accordingly, the delay in completing the GRSG plan amendment process until September 22, 2015, has affected our schedule for the Craters of the Moon-specific planning process.

8. In addition, after briefing the BLM Washington Office about BLM Idaho's recommended approach to the Craters of the Moon plan amendment process on January 28, 2015, the BLM's Deputy Director requested that we add an additional action alternative to more fully analyze a range of reduced livestock grazing levels. The Craters of the Moon Planning Team incorporated this recommendation, adding an additional "reduced grazing" action alternative into the Draft plan amendment and Draft Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) in 2015. The inclusion of an additional reduced grazing alternative caused delays in the planning process.

9. BLM Idaho State Office submitted an administrative draft of the Draft Craters of the Moon-specific plan amendment and Draft EIS to BLM's Washington Office (WO) for review in March 2016. After briefings with the BLM Washington Office, including the BLM Deputy Director, in June and July 2016, we incorporated comments from the Office of the Assistant Secretary, Land and Minerals Management, into the Notice of Availability and other materials relating to the Draft plan amendment and Draft EIS. We received approval to publish the Draft plan amendment and Draft EIS on September 13, 2016.

10. On September 30, 2016, we published the Draft Craters of the Moon plan amendment and Draft EIS, which analyzes a range of alternatives with respect to grazing, including a "no livestock grazing" alternative and a "reduced grazing" alternative.

11. The BLM has developed a timeline for completing the Craters of the Moon plan amendment, which is attached as Exhibit 1. As shown in the timeline, the 90-day public comment period on the Draft plan amendment and Draft EIS will expire at the end of December 2016. At that point, BLM will analyze the comments it received, allow for cooperating agency review, conduct consultation in accordance with the Endangered Species Act and the National Environmental Policy Act, and conduct an internal review based on all of those processes in order to make appropriate revisions. By the end of March, BLM expects that an administrative draft for the Proposed plan amendment and Final EIS will be cleared by BLM Idaho and will be sent to the BLM Washington Office for review. After roughly 30 days, we expect that the Proposed plan amendment and Final EIS will be ready for publication. Publication of the Notice of Availability for the Proposed Plan Amendment and Final EIS will trigger a simultaneous 30-day protest period and 60-day governor's consistency review. While the final Craters of the Moon plan amendment will not be finalized by the December 2016 deadline as originally planned, completion of the amendment is a top priority in the Twin Falls District. With current budgets in place, and efforts in place for additional staffing to assist in this priority workload, the BLM anticipates that it can complete the process and issue a final decision to amend the Craters of the Moon RMP by the end of July 2017.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

No. 1:17-cv-00285-CL

FEDERAL DEFENDANTS' NOTICE OF
EXECUTIVE ORDER AND CABINET
SECRETARY REVIEW AND CONSENT MOTION TO STAY CASE

Hon. Mark D. Clarke

In this action, Plaintiffs challenge the January 2017 expansion of the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument in Southwestern Oregon, undertaken pursuant to the Antiquities Act of 1906, now codified at 54 U.S.C. §§ 320301 320303 (“Antiquities Act”). Federal Defendants provide notice of an Executive Order from the President of the United States, “Review of Designations Under the Antiquities Act,” that directs the Secretary of the Interior (“Secretary”) to review certain designations made under the Antiquities Act, including the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument. See Presidential Executive Order on the Review of Designations Under the Antiquities Act (Apr. 26, 2017) (“Executive Order”), 82 Fed. Reg. 20429 (May 1, 2017). Pursuant to this directive, the Secretary is reviewing the designation of the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument, and that designation could ultimately be changed in ways that would affect this litigation. The Secretary should be afforded the opportunity to fully review the designation and respond to the President’s direction in a manner that is consistent with the terms of the Executive Order. Deferral of further judicial proceedings is thus warranted.

Accordingly, Federal Defendants respectfully request that the Court stay this case while the agency conducts its review of the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument designation and that the stay remain in place until 30 days after the August 24, 2017 deadline for the Secretary’s final report to the President, that is, until September 23, 2017, to allow for consideration of any resulting proposals affecting this case, with a joint status report concerning further proceedings due upon expiration of the stay period. As discussed further below, this stay will promote judicial economy by avoiding unnecessary adjudication and will support the integrity of the administrative process.

Federal Defendants contacted counsel for Plaintiffs and Intervenor-Defendants regarding this motion. Plaintiffs do not oppose the motion, and Intervenor-Defendants take no position on it.

I. Background

The Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument in Southwest Oregon was designated in 2000 by President Clinton under the Antiquities Act of 1906, now codified at 54 U.S.C. §§ 320301–320303 (“Antiquities Act”), and originally was to include approximately 52,000 acres. Proclamation No. 7318, 65 Fed. Reg. 37249 (June 9, 2000). In 2017, President Obama expanded the Monument by approximately 48,000 additional acres. Proclamation No. 9564, 82 Fed. Reg. 6145 (Jan. 12, 2017).

Plaintiffs in this case, two wood products industry companies, allege that they are adversely affected by the Monument’s expansion and challenge the expansion. (ECF No. 1, Compl. ¶¶ 4, 5, 12, 15–16.) Federal Defendants’ response to the Complaint is currently due June 23, 2017 (ECF No. 21, Minute Order of Apr. 14, 2017, granting motion for extension of time). Four parties have been granted intervention as defendants (ECF No. 12): Soda Mountain Wilderness Council, Klamath-Siskiyou Wildlands Center, Oregon Wild, and The Wilderness Society.

On April 26, 2017, the President of the United States, Donald J. Trump, signed an Executive Order establishing the policy of the United States that National Monument “[d]esignations should be made in accordance with the requirements and original objectives of the [Antiquities] Act and appropriately balance the protection of landmarks, structures, and objects against the appropriate use of Federal lands and the effects on surrounding lands and communities.” See Executive Order § 1. The Executive Order also states that National Monument designations have a substantial impact on the management of Federal lands and the use and enjoyment of neighboring lands. Id.

As a result of this impact, the Executive Order directs the Secretary of the Interior to review all Presidential designations or expansions of designations made under the Antiquities Act since January 1, 1996, where the designation covers more than 100,000 acres, where the designation after expansion covers more than 100,000 acres, or where the Secretary determines that the designation or expansion was made without adequate public outreach and coordination. Id. § 2(a). The goal of the Secretary in this review is to determine whether each designation or expansion conforms to the policy set forth in section 1 of the Executive Order. Id. In making his determination, the Secretary may consult with other executive departments and agencies as well as any affected state, tribal, or local officials. Id.

§ 2(b), (c). An interim report on Bears Ears National Monument and other designations selected by the Secretary must be provided within 45 days of the date of the Executive Order. Id. § 2(d). The final report on all relevant designations is due within 120 days of the date of the Executive Order, so by August 24, 2017, and is to include recommendations for Presidential action, legislative proposals, or other actions consistent with the law. Id. § 2(e).

The National Monument whose expansion Plaintiffs challenge in this case comes within the review required by the Executive Order. In fact, the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument is expressly included on the list of those National Monuments under review. See 82 Fed. Reg. 22,016 (May 11, 2017).

II. Argument

The Executive Order and National Monument review mark substantial new developments that warrant staying this litigation. A stay will further the Court's interests in avoiding unnecessary adjudication, support the integrity of the administrative process, and ensure due respect for the prerogative of the executive branch to evaluate the policy decisions of a prior Administration.

Courts have broad discretion to stay proceedings and to defer judicial review in the interest of justice and efficiency. “[T]he power to stay proceedings is incidental to the power inherent in every court to control the disposition of the causes on its docket with economy of time and effort for itself, for counsel, and for litigants.” Landis v. North Am. Co., 299 U.S. 248, 254 (1936), quoted in Air Line Pilots Ass’n v. Miller, 523 U.S. 866, 879 n.6 (1998); CMAX, Inc. v. Hall, 300 F.2d 265, 268 (9th Cir. 1962); see also Am. Petroleum Inst. v. EPA (“API”), 683 F.3d 382, 388 (D.C. Cir. 2012) (premature and unnecessary judicial review “would hardly be sound stewardship of judicial resources”). Further, agencies generally have authority to reconsider past decisions and to revise, replace, or repeal a decision to the extent permitted by law and supported by a reasoned explanation. FCC v. Fox Television Stations, Inc., 556 U.S. 502, 515 (2009); Motor Vehicle Mfrs. Ass’n v. State Farm Mutual Auto. Ins. Co., 463 U.S. 29, 42 (1983). Here, the President has directed the Secretary of the Interior to review various National Monument designations and expansions, has instructed the Secretary to consider the Act’s requirement that reservations of land not exceed the smallest area compatible with the proper care and management of the objects to be protected, and has established a specific 120-day period for the Secretary’s review to be accomplished. The Secretary’s review will culminate in recommendations for Presidential action, legislative changes, or other actions consistent with the law.

In light of this recent development, a stay is warranted in this case. The President of the United States has directed the Interior Secretary to immediately take all steps necessary to review a number of designations, including the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument, and if appropriate, make recommendations that may substantially affect or alter the designation. The impending review has the potential to affect issues at the core of this action.

Staying the present challenge will preserve the status quo, in which the designation is presently pending judicial review. Plaintiffs, which challenge the expansion of the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument, do not oppose the requested stay of proceedings.

Federal Defendants therefore request that this Court stay this case and all pending deadlines while the Secretary conducts his review of the designation for the Cascade-Siskiyou National Monument and that the stay remain in place until 30 days after the August 24, 2017 deadline for the Secretary's final report to the President, that is, until September 23, 2017. At the end of the stay, the parties will submit a joint status report concerning further proceedings in this matter.

Respectfully submitted,
