1. If we want to have access to DiscoverText after the contract period, we would have to "buy" another month's license. But we wouldn't need more than one user, so it's just the license cost.
2. The 20 licenses do not have to be tied to specific people. Twenty people at a time using the system, can be different day to day.

I defer to Marcia on that in part, but we need to remember that we will likely want to analyze information submitted in the comments more 30 days after the comment period closes. Marcia, will we still have access to the sorted comments at the end of the contract period? Also, will these new licenses be tied to specific individuals, or is it just no more than 20 individuals from DOI using them at any one time? For this project the latter approach would be preferable.

Hi,

I noticed that the Period of Performance was for four months, but the license is only for 3 months on his proposal. The comment period ends on 7/10/17. How much time do you think Dr. Shulman needs, after the comment period ends to analyze the comments?

Jennifer

Hi Jennifer

I just got off the phone with Dr. Shulman. The software licenses with FWS are not transferable to the Secretary's office. They are tied to FWS exclusively and also to specific individuals. This is not unusual, other subscription services do the same thing.

Dr. Shulman had quoted 20 software licenses for the Secretary's Office. The good news is these licenses are available on a monthly basis for approx. $100 each per month. I will need a separate PR for the software licenses because they may need to put the licenses on a separate task order.

Call me if you have any questions.
