Randy please give me a call...I just arrived in Pittsburgh and only have a little time to get ready to do a workshop at Carnegie Mellon.

Sorry to start off the week with a problem, but I can't access "new information" comments, as described below. The first comment on the list after the search will open, but trying to open any of the others results in a list of all of the comments in the dataset being displayed by document number only. I was able to search and read the comments on Wednesday for an hour or so.

Hope you had a good Thanksgiving.

I am unable to access comments, seeing instead something I've not encountered before.

I am in Bears Ears Singles v3, using advanced filters for "New information", 75 comments so coded, had no problem opening those on Wednesday. However, this morning when I try to open a comment instead get this list for all 18,000 comments in v3, in columns of 1000 per page

Unit moved (undo)  DOI-2017-0002-2017-05-27-02-00-40_docs/DOI-2017-0002-117080.html
coded

coded

Have tried several times, including going back to main dataset and re-searching, same result ("unit moved (undo)" does not appear on the discovertext screen, don't know if it is hidden or this is a result of copying it)

I have tried opening several different comments, including ones opened on Wednesday, all with same result. Thought I should check with you before going to Stu.

Stu - Subsequently, tried the following, first the log-out then the different project, with no luck

I tried logging out and coming back also used the clear filter before adding the new information search but same result as above.
