I suggested to Laura and Heather that we add "after May 12" to the reg.gov reference, since if we deliver it today it certainly would publish by then. Your folks did a fantastic job in pulling that together.

And I only found out yesterday mid-morning that it had to go out today; I had anticipated mid-week next week until then, so greatly appreciate all the overall help your folks have provided as well as the docket work..

Please be advised regulations .gov site will not be active until document officially published, which at earliest, would be next weds. We have no control over FR publication dates

If you are going to include information in the press release on submitting comments, regulations.gov should be the primary method of submission and that should be clear in your message. If you provide a U.S. mail address or physical address as the primary address, you will be inundated with hard copy mail and response to comments will be much more difficult. I have asked Megan Apgar of my staff to set up a docket in FDMS (the back office side of regulations.gov). That docket should be included in the FR notice and, if you also wish to provide that information by press release, it should be in the press release as well. I am copying in Megan so she can provide the docket number and language on submitting comments.
