The July 20 count I sent you is a prime example of why not to stay late and work on numbers - I omitted all of the duplicates I had counted, and left out the last 2 sets of nds (50-100 and 100-200). The singles and uncodable numbers are correct. The attached screen shot from the DiscoverText bucket list has the full numbers - about another 300,000.

The "12006 + 1828 + 1821" represents the first 3 sets of near duplicates, so that is correct. I marked those on the attachment with . You need to add to the total you have sent me your numbers from your work with the duplicates and near dups, plus all of the numbers in the attachment except those with the . I will come up in minute to make sure I explained this clearly.

do you need back in today? I've been working on the other matter I mentioned this morning, and am about to go to lunch. I will need access for several hours to finish, but not necessarily today.

Had an unavoidable errand. Do you need to be in Discovertext to finish, or are you on your spreadsheet?
