

Recreation Fees

Working for You

in the

White Mountains National Recreation Area

Through the Federal Lands Recreation Enhancement Act, the Bureau of Land Management invests recreation fees generated from public use cabins and campgrounds back into the White Mountains National Recreation Area.

Recent projects funded or partially funded with these fees include:

Public use cabins

Construction and repair of Eleazar's, Crowberry, and Windy Gap cabins and the Summit Trail Shelter

Hiking trails

Construction and repair of Quartz Creek, Summit, and Table Top trails

Trailhead signs

Installations at Colorado Creek and Wickersham Dome trailheads

Road repairs

Nome Creek Road
