I greatly value the area considered for mining as an area of wildlife <sup>of great</sup> importance. I truly think that the mining would have a tremendous ~~but~~ negative impact on wildlife and I am completely opposed to mining. With the building of roads, increased traffic and pollution that mining will bring, it should not be permitted in such a precious place such as the area around the Grand Canyon Nat. Park. Thanks for taking my concerns so seriously.

Don't mine near or around our national treasure. The Colorado River will be greatly impacted by runoff. That will impact the water supply for millions of people and affect agriculture as well as endangered species. It is also a sacred place to many tribes & peoples.
