

Riggins Hot Springs

The hot springs were first known by the Nez Perce Indians as WEH-min-kesh, and many of them gathered at the springs to absorb its medicinal properties. Today the hot springs are part of a privately owned resort.

Allison Creek Picnic Ground

This picnic area is managed by the Forest Service and has toilets. There is no running water, and overnight camping is not permitted.

Spring Bar

Featuring a Forest Service pay campground, water, toilets, and a boat ramp, this site is very popular for many types of recreational users.

Van Creek Campground

This is a small camping area with toilet facilities.

Van Creek Rapids II

Kelly Creek Rapids II

This rapid gets bigger at lower flows.

Partridge Creek Bridge

The Salmon River flooded in 1974 and the water level reached 38 feet, nearly covering the bridge completely. The road continues for 3 miles after crossing the bridge.