Gentlemen:

We have lived on Lake Lewisville for over 40 years and have seen some unbelievable boondoggles. I thought the fence around the lake would be the worst but the gas lease is going to beat that.

There doesn't seem to be much point in recounting the possible seismic problems or the almost certainty that Dallas water will be polluted. By the time wells are drilled the dam may fail and make the discussion moot.

It is hard to believe, however, that with the fouled water in Texas and Oklahoma due to fracking you are going to sell out for a mess of pottage.
