Subject Pipe Dream

Bureau of Land Management

Attn: Penny Woods

I just had to comment on the pipeline plans even though my idea is just a pipe dream. When I think about the billions of dollars we are spending on the wars in the middle east and the flooding taking place in the mid-west every spring, the thought comes to my mind that an Aqueduct could be built over a couple thousand miles and fill Lake Mead to its capacity. I think of all the jobs that could be created to conduct such a large operation. If all the States that were involved with flooding were able to take that money paid out in damages and help contribute to the Aqueduct along with the U.S. Government involvement, both Nevada and the other States would benefit. The Aqueduct would connect from the Mississippi River, Missouri River, etc. to the Colorado River. This is just a comment, so I thought I would pass it along.

Thanks for listening.
