BLM Approves First Non-Motorized Mountain Bike Trail in Sand Flats

Moab, Utah—The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Utah Moab Field Office today issued a decision approving a new nine-mile non-motorized mountain bike trail in the Sand Flats Recreation Area.

Currently known as the Big Burrito Trail, the new trail is the only non-motorized mountain bike trail in the Sand Flats Recreation Area. The Big Burrito Trail gives less advanced riders an alternative to the Porcupine Rim portion of the Whole Enchilada Trail and provides connectivity to a mountain bike trail system for riders wanting to ride directly from town. The addition of the Big Burrito Trail expands recreational opportunities and enhances the experience for visitors to the Sand Flats Recreation Area.

The Decision Record and associated documents are available on the BLM's Environmental Notification Bulletin Board (ENBB) at:

The BLM manages more than 245 million acres of public land, the most of any Federal agency. This land, known as the National System of Public Lands, is primarily located in 12 Western states, including Alaska. The BLM also administers 700 million acres of sub-surface mineral estate throughout the nation. The BLM's mission is to manage and conserve the public lands for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations under our mandate of multiple-use and sustained yield. In Fiscal Year 2014, the BLM generated $5.2 billion in receipts from public lands.
