Probable Fossil Yield Classification

- Unclassified
- Class 1
- Class 2
- Class 3
- Class 4/5

Note: For planning purposes, Class 4 and Class 5 formations are the same. Class 4 is really Class 5 with some mitigating factors, such as deep soils or alluvial material, and usually that level of detail cannot be mapped in a broad approach. The distinction is made at the project level when the local soil and alluvial cover and the actual degree of surface disturbance for that project is assessed.
